Capt. A. G. Faulkner of Glenholm, N. S., has been spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson on Essex street.

Remember the two dances in town tonight, the Farmers' Ball, and the I. O. O. F. dance in Pilgrim hall. At both a good time is assured.

The Christian Endeavor society of the South church will present a play entitled "Two College Tramps" about the middle of November.

George W. Morse will give up his position in Ames' store on Saturday, to take up new work in the shipping department at Smith & Dove's mill.

An alarm rung in at box 47 on Bartlet street near the schools called out the fire department Monday night about nine o'clock. It proved to be a false alarm.

A new society has been formed at St. Augustine's church for mothers and married women of the parish. It will meet every Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

The boys of the Andover Guild have formed a bowling league with the Lawrence Y. M. C. A. employed boys and the Lawrence Boys' Club of Grace church, Lawrence.

Last Friday evening under the auspices of the Algonquin club of Lawrence, a very successful dance was held in the Town hall. The Crescent Ladies' orchestra of Bradford furnished the music.

At the prize roll-off in the Essex street bowling alley on Wednesday night, Edward Anderson secured the first prize of $3.00, Peter Cairnie the second of $2.00, while Alex Riley won the third prize of $1.00.

On Wednesday the street department began the work of repairing the crossing between Valpey's market and Allen's drug store. The street at that point has been in bad condition and any improvement will be appreciated.

Andover was greatly honored by having the governor as a guest in town over Monday night. His Excellency, after visiting the rallies at Lawrence and Haverhill returned to the home of William M. Wood, where he passed the night.

The T. W. T. club held a very successful Halloween party in the South church vestry last Tuesday evening. About thirty girls took part in the Halloween games which were played and enjoyed and enjoyed the refreshments which the committee provided.

Another scholarship fund has been added to the long list already maintained at Phillips Academy. The Trustees have received a gift of $1000 from Mrs. James Huntington and her daughter, Miss Eliza P. Huntington to establish a scholarship in memory of James Huntington, class of 1848.

The cantata, "Violet in Fairyland," which was so ably presented in Christ church Parish house a few weeks ago by the pupils of Miss Lucia G. Merrill, will be given again by the same cast in the West Parish Grange hall on Friday evening, November 5th at 7.45 o'clock. The tickets will be 25 cents.

An item in the Townsman of October 8, stated that the Andover Natural History Society had planned several outings for the winter. This is an error that needs correction. It is the Lawrence society of Natural History which has arranged the program which was printed, while our home society does not meet again until December, unless some special gathering is called together.

Clan Johnston, No. 185, O. S. C., is making arrangements for a concert and dance to be held in the Town hall, Wednesday, January 26, in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. The committee which has the affair in charge consists of Chairman Thomas Thin, John Macdonald, Charles Buchan, Daniel Maguire, George Spark, Thomas Manson and Arthur G. Innes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitcomb have been visiting at the home of Monte Whitecomb on Central street.

The Courteous Circle of the King's Daughters will meet at the South church on Tuesday at 7.45.

Andover lodge, I. O. O. F., are planning for an initiation which will take place next Wednesday evening.

The Andover club is planning to hold its second annual ball on Friday evening, February 4. Every effort will be made to surpass last year's affair. All those who enjoyed the splendid program carried out last winter will appreciate the fact that any improvement on it this year will mean a royal good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Bailey, Ralph A. Bailey, Miss Helen Bailey and Miss Madeline Hewes spent part of Wednesday and Thursday of last week in Billerica in order to be present at the wedding of Miss Leona Fitzgerald, a niece of Mr. Bailey, and Frank Perkins of South Sudbury. Miss Bailey and Miss Hewes were bridesmaids at the ceremony which took place Thursday evening. The groom is well known in this town having formerly lived here and is a graduate of Pynchard school.

Andover stands well among its neighboring towns in the matter of contributions to the Lawrence Tag Day. Miss Clara B. Prescott, treasurer of the Ladies' Union Charitable Society, reports the following results of Tag Day: "The gross proceeds of the recent Tag Day amount to $2794.06, with perhaps five dollars to come in. The expenses will be $126.20, making the net result $2672.86. The surrounding towns make a brave showing, Andover sending in round numbers $375, No. Andover $502, and Methuen, $275."

Hayden-Cole Wedding

A large company assembled at the South Congregational church in Peabody on last Thursday evening to attend the wedding of Dr. Robert Ferguson Hayden of Cambridge and Miss Gertrude Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson K. Cole of Peabody.

At 7.30 o'clock the bridal party entered the church. The procession was composed of the ushers, who were Arnold T. Stewart of Somerville, John M. of Quincy, Edward Gaskill and Harold Cole of Cambridge; the maid of honor, Miss Alice M. Bell of Andover, the bridesmaids, Miss Ethel M. Everett of Lowell, Miss Alice F. Moore of Boston, Miss Mercedes H. Torr and Miss Bertha P. Johnson of Peabody; and the bride leaning on the arm of her father.

They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. J. Arthur Furbush of Boston. The officiating clergyman was Rev. William G. Poor, of Salem, a cousin of the bride.

The bride was fortunate in her choice of attractive bridesmaids and maid of honor. The latter wore green crepe de chine and carried white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cole, 19 School street.

The bride and groom gave a dinner to their maid of honor and bridesmaids, best man and ushers, at the Berry tavern, Danvers, Wednesday night, which was a jolly affair. At that time the bride presented the maid of honor, as a souvenir of the forthcoming wedding, an amethyst pendant, and the bridesmaids were given Egyptian scarfs. The groom's gift to his best man was a gold necktie clip, and to the ushers amethyst scarf pins.

West.

SENATOR M'CARREN DEAD

Man Whose Great Political Abilities Were Conceded by His Enemies

New York, Oct. 24.—Senator Patrick H. McCarren died at 1:05 o'clock this morning as the result of an operation for appendicitis. At 11:30 o'clock last night Rev. Fr. Zimmer had been summoned to the senator's bedside and remained with him a few moments. Senator McCarren already had received the last rites of the church.

PATRICK H. M'CARREN.

All the relatives of the Brooklyn political leader who were able to be with him were at the hospital at the time. His aged mother was not able to be moved from her home, where she has been ill for some time. The nephews and nieces were among those who waited in the public room of the hospital.

Toward the end McCarren suffered a great deal of pain. He was conscious and realized that it was a matter of but a short time at most that he had to live.

Patrick H. McCarren was born in Cambridge, Mass., fifty-seven years ago. Even his enemies conceded his remarkable abilities as a politician, while decrying his methods.

ASKS SEPARATION FROM HER HUSBAND

Leader of New York's Four Hundred Brings Suit

New York, Oct. 26.—The American this morning prints a story that Mrs. John Jacob Astor, leader of the 400, has brought suit against her husband for a legal separation. According to The American, the case is now in the hands of the referee, C. H. Young. The basis of the action has not been learned.

Mrs. Astor returned from Europe on Oct. 15, Astor sailing on Oct. 12, three days before his wife's arrival home, for Cuba on his yacht Nourmahal. Upon her arrival in New York Mrs. Astor went to the home of Benjamin Guinness and his wife.

Astor's attorney in the proceedings is Lewis Cass Ledyard, while Mrs. Astor is represented by John N. Cadwallader.

FORG D NOTE DISCLOSURES

Town's Liability a Problem Which is Worrying Framingham

Framingham, Mass., Oct. 23.—The question of the town's liability in connection with the note forgeries recently discovered is still a matter of debate here. A statement attributed to Town Counsel Adams on this point and naming a sum as a limit of the town's liability is declared erroneous, Adams' opinion, as read at a meeting of the board of trade, having been that the town could not be held liable for any notes issued in excess of amounts authorized by the town.

According to the town records, notes amounting to $270,000 have been authorized and $165,927.50 in legitimate notes has been sold in the past two years, but the liability of the town for the difference, $104,072.50, in connection with the forged notes, it is believed, is a question for the courts to decide.

VORYS LAUNCHES BOOM

Says People Want Taft to Serve Second Term as President

Baltimore, Oct. 23.—Arthur I. Vorys, who was President Taft's manager in Ohio during the campaign, is in Baltimore on legal business. He expressed the opinion that the president will surely be re-nominated and elected.

"The demonstration which has been accorded the president in the east," said Vorys, "is proof of his popularity and is a sure indication of his re-nomination and re-election. The country appreciates the breadth of his views and the nobleness of his nature. He has fewer enemies than any president, probably, in our history. His political strength will grow with years."

Tariff Favors For Germany
Washington, Oct. 27.—Concessions to Germany to facilitate the trade with this country when the German tariff agreement expires on Feb. 7 next are announced by the treasury department.

JAPAN MOURNING FOR PRINCE ITO

Declaration That His Peace Policy Will Be Maintained

ASSASSINATED IN MANCHURIA

Had Just Arrived at Harbin to Try and Secure Better Understanding With China and Assure the World of His Country's Honorable Intentions—Great Statesman Was of Unknown Parentage

Tokio, Oct. 27.—Hirobumi Ito, a prince of Japan, but the greatest commoner in the empire, and for two years the uncrowned ruler of Korea, who above all stood between Korea and the degradation of immediate annexation, hoping to build up that country anew, was assassinated by the degradation of immediate annexation, to which place he went from Tokyo in his capacity as president of the privy council on a mission of peace.

The assassin was arrested. "I came to Harbin for the sole purpose of assassinating Prince Ito to avenge my country," the slayer told his captors. He also said he had a personal account to settle with the great Japanese statesman, who, during his stay in Korea, had ordered the execution of several persons closely connected with the assassin.

PRINCE ITO.

Prior to his departure Prince Ito said to the newspaper men:

"I am going on my own initiative, with the approval of my emperor, with the hope of securing a better understanding with China, and of assuring the world that Japan's intentions in Manchuria are amicable to China and friendly to the commerce of all nations. When I return I hope to give positive evidence of this."

Undoubtedly Prince Ito intended to inaugurate and enforce a distinct policy in Manchuria, but the exact nature of this was not disclosed. Marquis Katsuma, the premier and minister of finance, after the assassination said in an interview:

"The death of Prince Ito will not change the policies of Japan. The pacific motives of Prince Ito will ever be maintained and the traditions left by him will always be followed."

The entire nation is mourning; the flags on the foreign embassies have been placed at half-mast, while all public and many private functions have been abandoned. The Japanese and foreign newspapers appear with black borders. Only the death of a Korean just as he alighted from a emperor could arouse such similar demonstrations of sympathy.

Perhaps Prince Ito's death causes more universal sincerity and grief because he was idolized by the masses as the great counsellor of the elder statesmen, the creator of the cabinet and the friend of the emperor himself.

The posthumous honors have not yet been announced, but it is certain they will be the highest in the gift of the emperor and that the funeral will equal that of a prince of the blood.

The prince was born Sept. 2, 1841, of unknown parentage. As an orphan he was adopted into the family of Juso Ito, a Samurai of the lowest rank in the Choshu clan. Young Ito studied under the great master of the time, Yoshida Shoin, and developed brilliantly.

In 1863 he undertook the celebrated pilgrimage to England in defiance of the laws of Japan which forbade natives to go abroad under the penalty of death. He took part on the imperial side during the war which led to the restoration and after the establishment of the present Meiji government, began his official life as a judge of the Osaka court.

To describe the career of Prince Ito from the time when he left Japan as a boy for England, sailing before the mast, to the time when he retired from his recent post in Korea, would be to recount the whole history of modern Japan. His intimate knowledge of affairs in Europe and America, as well as in the Orient, combined with the well known disposition for fairness, made him a power for peace throughout the world.

Making Money On the Farm

XVI.—Orchard Management

By C. V. GREGORY,
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"
Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

FOR a few years after the young orchard is set out it will do better if it is cultivated. During these first few years, before the trees come into bearing, it is neither necessary nor desirable to let the land lie idle. Some cultivated crop can be grown between the rows of trees, thus utilizing the land and giving the orchard the needed cultivation. Corn is not a very good crop for this purpose, since it grows too rank, shading the young trees and depriving them of their share of the moisture supply. Potatoes are one of the best crops that can be grown in a young orchard. Squashes and cabbages also fit in well. It is often convenient to have the vegetable garden in the orchard during the first few years. Small fruit can also be profitably grown as a filler crop. Where bush fruits are used, however, they must be cut out as soon as the orchard comes into bearing. Whatever crop is grown it should not come within three or four feet of the young trees, as they need plenty of sunlight and moisture.

The filler crop should receive frequent and thorough cultivation. As soon as the land can be worked in the spring it should be plowed, unless this has been done the fall before. After plowing the disk or spring tooth harrow very effectively breaks up the clods and fines the surface. A final harrowing will complete the process of getting the soil in shape.

Cultivation.

There are two principal objects in cultivating the orchard. In the first place, cultivation, as explained in article No. 2, liberates plant food and so enables the plant to make a faster growth. It is a wasteful practice to apply fertilizers to the orchard until you have made the fertility that is already there available by cultivation.

The second reason for tillage is to conserve moisture and promote deep rooting. The upper layer of a cultivated soil is dry, and in consequence the roots will turn downward to seek a layer in which there is more moisture. At the same time the upward rise of water by capillarity is checked just at the dry layer, so that little is lost by evaporation. It is very important to make the soil a vast storehouse of moisture for orchard trees, since they must have large quantities if they are to produce profitably. A full grown apple tree gives off as much as 250 gallons of water a day through its leaves during the summer months.

Cover Crops.

As the trees come into bearing the growth of a cultivated crop between the rows should be discontinued. Some cultivation, however, will still be necessary if the best results are to be secured. One of the best means to give this is by plowing and preparing the soil in the spring and then sowing clover or some legume as a catch crop. This will supply the soil with nitrogen and humus and keep it in good physical condition. Calves, sheep or hogs may be turned into the orchard in the fall to eat the clover, or it may be plowed under the next spring.

The trees will be so large by this time that it will be impossible to cultivate close to them, nor is this necessary, since the feeding roots are farther out in the spaces between the rows. The space close around the trees may be seeded to blue grass or some other perennial.

As the orchard gets older it may be left in clover for two or three years at a time. An occasional plowing and seeding will be necessary to renew the clover and to prevent the orchard from becoming sod bound. If used as a hog pasture the hogs will keep the soil loosened up sufficiently, at the same time adding considerable fertility. In such a case all the treatment that is necessary is an occasional re-seeding. If well fed the hogs will do no damage to the apple trees. On the other hand, they will do a great deal of good by eating wormy fruit and thus destroying the worms.

Where it is not convenient to allow hogs or sheep in the orchard an occasional load of well rotted stable manure will be beneficial. Do not pile this around the trees, but scatter it evenly over the ground. Wood ashes are a good substitute for manure, but can seldom be obtained in sufficient amounts to be used to advantage.

If the orchard is properly attended to from the start little pruning will be necessary. It is much better to pinch off a twig occasionally than to cut off a branch as big as your arm a few years later. It takes but a little time to go over the orchard in the spring and clip off such twigs as do not seem to be needed. The object should be to produce an even, spreading, somewhat open head. If it ever does become necessary to remove large branches they should be cut close to the trunk and the wounds painted with white lead. It is better to do this severe pruning in the winter before the sap begins to run.

Spraying For Insects.

One of the most effective means of securing large crops of fruit is spraying. Fruit trees of all kinds are subject to many injurious insects and diseases, which if left to themselves will materially lessen the yields. There are two kinds of insects—biting and sucking. The former can be combated by means of poisons sprayed upon the leaves. The sucking insects, of which plant lice are the most common examples, cannot be killed in this way, since they drill into the plant and suck the juices. The most effective remedy for them is some insecticide which will kill by contact, like kerosene emulsion. This is made by dissolving half a pound of soap in a gallon of boiling water, adding two gallons of kerosene and churning the mixture violently until the oil is thoroughly mixed with the soap. This is diluted with nine times as much water before using. It may be applied with a spray pump whenever the lice are troublesome and is a very effective remedy.

The biting insects are by far the most troublesome in the orchard. Of these the codling moth probably does the most damage. It is the larvae hatched from the eggs of the codling moth that cause wormy apples. The tent caterpillar and canker worm attack the leaves, sometimes stripping the tree bare. There is no better remedy for these insects than Paris green dissolved in water at the rate of one pound to 100 gallons. Three pounds of freshly slaked lime should be added to prevent injury to the foliage. Paris green can also be used for the plum curculio and for the other insects which attack the plum and cherry. The foliage of these trees is more tender than that of the apple, however, and for that reason some less severe insecticide, such as arsenate of lead dissolved at the rate of three pounds to fifty gallons of water, is better.

Spraying For Fungus Diseases.

The most troublesome fungus diseases are apple scab, plum, pear and cherry leaf spot and peach leaf curl. The most efficient fungicide is bordeaux mixture. This is made by dissolving four pounds of copper sulphate and four pounds of lime in fifty gallons of water. The object of a fungicide is not to cure diseases, but to prevent them. These fungus diseases spread by means of spores, which are carried from leaf to leaf by the wind. When they alight on a leaf, especially if the surface is a little moist, they grow and produce another center of disease. If the leaf is covered with a thin coating of the copper sulphate mixture the spores are killed before they start to grow. Since fungicides are preventives rather than cures it is important that they be applied early. In order to save time Paris green may be added to the bordeaux mixture, at the rate of four ounces to fifty gallons or arsenate of lead at the rate of two pounds to fifty gallons and one spraying made effective for both insects and diseases.

If you have many fruit trees it will pay to send to the experiment station for a spraying calendar, which will give full directions concerning time and manner of spraying. For apples the first spraying should be given about the time the first leaves burst the buds, the second just before the blossoms open and the third just before they fall. If necessary, a fourth spraying may be given from ten to twenty days after the third. In late July or early August another spraying should be given for the second brood of the codling moth. The two most important sprayings are just before the blossoms open and just after they fall.

Boxes are better than barrels for marketing high class fruit, as the fruit can be presented more attractively in this way. There is an advantage in a small package, too, as people will often buy a box of apples when they would never think of buying a barrel.

IN MANY ENGAGEMENTS

Death of General Howard, Who Served His Country Faithfully
Burlington, Vt., Oct. 27.—General Oliver O. Howard, last of the Union commanders of the Civil war, died at his home in this city last night. Heart disease was responsible for the noted soldier's death.

GENERAL O. O. HOWARD.

Including Howard's service in the Indian wars, he was probably in more engagements than any other officer in the United States army.

He was born in Leeds, Me., Nov. 8, 1830. When 20 years of age he was graduated from Bowdoin college and entered West Point, from which he was graduated in 1854, and was made a lieutenant and appointed instructor in mathematics.

Upon the breaking out of the war in 1861 he resigned, tendered his service to the state of Maine and was placed in command of the Third regiment of Maine volunteers. At the battle of Fair Oaks, where he left his right arm, he was twice wounded.

THIRTY-TWO MEN PRISH IN WAVES

But Six Survivors of Crew of the Steamer Hestia

St. John, Oct. 27.—Steamer Hestia, from Glasgow for Baltimore, via St. John, was wrecked on the island of Grand Manan, and it is believed that only six of her crew of forty were saved. She ran into a strong gale as she was rounding the southern part of Nova Scotia. She went ashore on rocks, great holes were torn in her bottom and she immediately began to fill.

Orders were given to abandon ship. Sixteen of the crew were in the act of lowering away one of the life boats when the tackle parted and the men were thrown into the sea. Meanwhile Captain Newman and nineteen other men entered another lifeboat. It was so badly overcrowded that it was impossible to use the oars and it drifted seaward, where it is feared it was capsized and all in it perished.

Six men were left on the wreck, which, despite the furious buffeting it was receiving, still hung together, and they were taken off with the greatest difficulty by a lifesaving crew.

WIFE MURDER AND SUICIDE

Deed of Boston Railway Conductor in a Frenzy of Jealousy

Boston, Oct. 28.—Irving W. Fletcher, conductor on the Boston Elevated, of 231 Dudley street, in a frenzy of jealousy, murdered his wife, Beria, in front of suite 16, second floor of 36 Batavia street, where she had taken refuge from his abuse with a friend, Miss Diana Sabourin, and turned his revolver on himself, shooting his brains out.

The double shooting terminated three years of stormy married life during which the girl wife was several times obliged to flee to her mother. During the past two weeks these persecutions became so violent that the girl wife, alone in Boston, her mother away in New Hampshire, was compelled to take her 3-year-old baby and leave the house.

BLACKMAILING OF IMPORTERS

Said to Have Been Practiced For Years in New York

CUSTOMS SERVICE IS ROTTEN

Merchants Tell Newspaper That It Takes Cash in Hand and Smiling Acquiescence to Grand Larceny to Keep Heads Above Water—Collector Loeb Condone Frauds in Order to Catch Others Who Are Thieving

New York, Oct. 28.—Importers and merchants who have been held up for years by the grafting of customs house inspectors and weighers told The Sun that the whole customs service in this city is rotten from the bottom upward.

How far the rottenness extends few of them could guess, because the system of robbing the government through false weights and returns and collecting bribes for prompt service forced the importers to deal only with little crooks. Only the little crooks ran around on the edge of a wheel of graft, taking the name of a fruit for a password and doing business coarsely in the back rooms of waterside bars.

Who lay quietly in the centre of the wheel and along the spokes, taking a fat share of the blackmail the little crooks collected, is a matter which interests men who have been forced for years, they say, to be dishonest themselves in order to get their shipments handled by the petty officials of the customs house.

The small importers and the customs house brokers say that they are eager to know who benefits most by the practice in the customs service of corrupting importers and seducing them to break the law. Scores of merchants who deal in imported goods have been gouged for years by the graft system in the customs service. They have submitted to it, they explain, because they had to get their shipments into their warehouses and strict honesty was not possible with many customs men. It took cash in the hand and a smiling acquiescence in grand larceny to enable them to keep their heads above water in an unfair business competition brought about by the grafting in the service.

It takes a graffer to catch a graffer, said Collector Loeb, in an official statement issued last night, and Federal Judge Holt's opinions to the contrary notwithstanding, the four weighers who confessed and gave evidence for the trial of Philip Musica and his father, cheese importers, are to hold their jobs.

Judge Holt, before disposing of the case, which resulted in the elder man's acquittal and the son's incarceration in the Tombs for sentence, denounced the retention of the four weighers as a discredit to the government and an injustice to the honest men in the service.

Mr. Loeb quickly said in reply: "The views of such a distinguished judge are entitled to highest respect, but it seems to me that Judge Holt can hardly have understood the situation with which the administration had to deal.

The members of the New York Yacht club have carefully refrained from saying anything about the challenge or what action they will take. ## DEATH OF JUSTICE PECKHAM

Had Been Member of Nation's Highest Court Since 1895

Albany, Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, an associate justice of the United States supreme court, died at his summer home in Altamont, a short distance from Albany, last night.

JUSTICE PECKHAM.

Justice Peckham suffered an attack of acute indigestion on Aug. 23. He seemed to recover from this and had notified Chief Justice Fuller that he would be ready to resume work at Washington last week. Two weeks ago the indigestion returned in worse form and complications set in which reached the heart. His death was due to angina pectoris.

Rufus Wheeler Peckham had been a member of the supreme court of the United States since 1895. At the time of his appointment by President Cleveland he was a member of the court of appeals of New York state.

Justice Peckham was a Democrat, and before taking a seat on the bench gave devoted attention to politics in New York. He was born in Albany Nov. 8, 1838, and had been on the bench, state and federal, for twenty-six years.

Marsoli's fruit store is in front of Hill's office. The fruit dealer testified that Hill on a Friday night took from a rear room a telescope bag, which he put into a hired buggy, and also a big box which appeared very heavy. When Hill came back in the buggy the box and bag were not in the vehicle.

Declared to Be Solely to Reform Deplorable Situation

ESTRADA SURE OF VICTORY

Will March on to Managua and Force Zelaya From Presidency at Point of Bayonet—Rebels Will Fight Brothers and Fathers if Welfare of Nation Gripped by Present Administration Requires It

Bluefields, Nicaragua, (By wireless to Colon), Oct. 28.—Friends of President Zelaya in the interior lately sent a telegram to General Estrada, who has declared himself provisional president, condemning his action in heading a revolution. Following is Estrada's reply, in which he voices the intense spirit of general dissatisfaction with Zelaya's misrule:

PRESIDENT ZELAYA.

"Your telegram received. We are sure of victory. We fight not against Nicaraguans nor the Liberals. We seek the sole solution of the deplorable situation prevailing in the country.

"If Zelaya will resign power we will lay down our arms at once. Not having honor or patriotism he will not do this, and we will arrive at Managua and force him from the presidency, which he so discredits, at the point of the bayonet.

"He destroys society, and menaces civilization. We will fight against our brothers and fathers if the welfare of the nation so requires. This is our irrevocable decision."

In addition to the name of Estrada, the telegram bears the signatures of many other prominent liberal leaders who have joined him in an effort to overthrow an administration which has crippled Nicaragua.

A majority of the government troops who were defeated in the engagements at San Carlos have joined General Chamorro, one of the rebel commanders, who is guarding the coast from attack by way of the San Juan valley.

THE STATE BY A COUNTRYMAN ABROAD

A Man's Vote.

There will be many voters in Massachusetts who will fail to exercise one of the most valuable privileges they enjoy at next Tuesday's election. There is no doubt about the truth of this assumption for it has been a condition upon practically every so-called "off year" in State politics since contests were known in Massachusetts. About once in four years practically the entire vote of the Commonwealth comes out. Of course there is a small portion of the vote that is not cast, but this is represented almost entirely in the number of men who are from illness or absence absolutely prohibited from taking part in the election. There seems to come over a generous percentage of the voting population, the feeling that they have performed their full duty and may rest for the three years following. This would be allright provided the officials for the entire four years were chosen at that time, but fortunately or unfortunately, they are not, and once every year there is a duty before the man who has the right to vote that he has no right to shirk. It is an important duty and more than that it is an important privilege, and the man who fails to use it is missing one of the most important of his responsibilities. This year Massachusetts has a stirring contest. It may be that the apathy that is so apparent is only on the surface and that underneath the men are thoroughly convinced as to the course that they should follow, and that they will go to the poll and show their position on election day. But certainly there is throughout the State at large very little interest in politics this fall. With no reference whatever in this particular connection to the men who are candidates, there is every reason why the successful candidate in every contest should represent a strong majority of the constituency which he is to represent. This is true be it Governor or Representative, and all along the line between the two. Our system of government demands this much from all citizens and to do less is to fail in a duty.

But a man's vote brings upon him more responsibility than the simple and careless casting of it. It brings upon him the responsibility of a choice between men and that responsibility is not honestly fulfilled if in exercising it, personal prejudice, spite, and malice take the place of fair judgment upon the real issue involved. Let us illustrate. A man is a candidate for office, and because his father once upon a time let his hens scratch the garden of the candidate's grandfather, a family feud arose and even though the candidate represents all that the government needs to promote its best interests, the present generation would forsake party, principles, and practically everything else to defeat the present day candidate. Change these conditions and apply them to several instances that will come to mind in Andover politics and you will find the same truth to apply out of which should be brought the same admonition, that a man's vote should represent a choice of the candidate whom he considers best fitted for the office, and no other feeling. Cast in this way, the result of every contest that is ahead need give no uneasiness to any person, for the result would be the choice of a majority who had passed judgment in the right way.

One of the most pernicious forms that the present day lottery has taken to itself is that of the Suit Club. Andover has just passed through an experience with one of these Clubs through which a goodly quota of her citizens have had a pretty severe squeezing and while it isn't very likely that it will get a start again, it is just as well to make a protest against it and help along the general movement which is noted in so many newspapers of opposition and agitation against the Suit Club.

Free Illustrated Lecture.

Thursday evening, November fourth at 8 o'clock Dr. Charles Peabody will lecture in the Archaeology building, Andover hill, upon: "The Peoples of the Mediterranean." There will be numerous lantern slides from photographs taken by the doctor the past three seasons he has been traveling among these peoples. The public is cordially invited to be present.

A. V. I. S. Notice

"Every day Life in Japan" will be the subject of the pastor's stereopticon lecture in the South church on Friday night. Fifty colored lantern slides will illustrate street scenes and home occupations in the great little islands.

The Abbot Academy Club will hold its first meeting of the season at the Vendome Saturday, November sixth, at 2:30 p. m. Miss Anna L. Dawes will speak on "Presidents I have known." Mrs. Charles M. Estabrook will sing; the usual social hour following.

THE TOWN BY A COUNTRYMAN AT HOME

The Representative Contest

We have received a letter this week from a friend whose opinion we prize highly, which begins as follows: "Let that poor little Burns alone. All he needs is to have his own way to thoroughly finish himself. And then he goes off to say several other equally pertinent things, but more private. We are inclined to think that this is pretty good advice. At the same time, it has been due to the writer's own manhood, it has been due to the people of Andover, to touch upon several of the events that have occurred during the present Representative campaign. We have refrained very largely from going into the contest as we ordinarily should, because of the strenuous efforts that have been made to lead the people to a belief that the writer was personally interested in the outcome of the contest. Now that it is universally known that such is far from the case, we trust it is not out of place for us to urge on the people of the town to forget entirely every issue in connection with this contest save the one issue of which of the two men will best serve the town of Andover as a member of the Legislature.

There are certain qualifications which are very essential to the making of a good legislator, and some of these qualifications are possessed by both of the Andover candidates. A man should be honest, both men fill this requirement. A man should be broad-minded, possess strong convictions and be true to them, be not ashamed of his party, but above party be loyal to the State. These are general qualifications, and we leave to the voters of Andover the determination as to which one of these two men best meet these requirements. But for a Representative from Andover there are still further requirements that should be considered. The town possesses many rich heritages from the old life. It presents to the State at large through a long line of men who have been conspicuous in its life, the best standards of citizenship, and it is no mean honor that is given to the man who goes out from the town and appears before the world as its "representative."

The young man who aspires to this office as a Democratic candidate would bring no discredit to Andover. He is clean and deserving of commendation for some of the things he has succeeded in doing, but the campaign has shown so many characteristics that do not fit into the traditions of Andover and the kind of public service that the town stands for, that we believe he does not measure up to the standard.

Mr. Boutwell has proved his worth. He is no untried citizen, public servant, or business man. In all three of these fields, he has been one of the pronounced leaders of Andover for many years. The people have honored him many times, but they have ever found him faithful to the trust. He will go to the Legislature possessing an influence that few people in the town can fully appreciate. He is able to present his own ideas clearly and intelligently, and for any man to charge that he is the tool of any other man is one of the most ridiculous statements that can be made about Samuel H. Boutwell. The writer knows him intimately, but only as many other men know him; he has differed from him, defeated him and been defeated by him on measures of public service, but he still has high respect for him despite differences or contests.

Mr. Boutwell will go to the Legislature as one of the best known farmers in the Commonwealth. He will find in the membership of the House from fifty to seventy-five more farmers, and as he is a leader among them in all of their present activities outside of the Legislature, so he will soon become a leader among them inside of the Legislature. There are not a dozen farmers in the Commonwealth possessing more influence than does he, and Andover will at once take a commanding place in the Legislature because of that influence he possesses. Again this is a consideration not to be lightly set aside. The town may boast of its schools, its manufactures, and its various other interests, but after all before it had these institutions, it possessed the beautiful fields and farms that make of it an agricultural community of no mean proportions.

We should not have been true to ourselves or to the position we hold as possessing more or less influence from a newspaper standpoint, had we not said these things. They are written in all kindness toward the young man whom we believe is not the best fitted to represent Andover in the Legislature. They are written in simple fairness to his opponent whose long service, whose high standing and whose splendid qualifications make him an ideal representative of Andover in the next General Court.

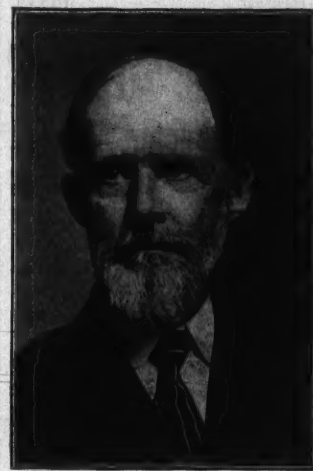

The statement published by Representative McTernan in another column deserves careful reading. Mr. McTernan is a man who does not rashly make such statements as he has submitted over his own signature, and what he says should have great weight at the present time.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY

The Governor gets a Royal Welcome to Andover. He and Others Speak

On Monday evening, the Town Hall was the scene of an enthusiastic rally with Governor Eben S. Draper as the chief figure. His Excellency, who arrived in Andover about four o'clock in the afternoon, was met at the top of the hill by the entire student body of Phillips Academy, whom he addressed for about ten minutes amidst much cheering. He was then driven to the residence of William M. Wood, where he was the guest at dinner.

In the evening he was escorted to the Town Hall, where a concert was given by the Andover Brass Band. He made his appearance at the hall through lines of red fire, held by small boys along Main street, who cheered him lustily. This feature proved very enjoyable to the Governor, and he expressed his appreciation of it to the members of the committee in charge. Within the hall a reception was tendered him.

Candidate S. H. Boutwell

Following the reception a telegram of regret was read coming from Congressman Butler Ames, who was unable to be present. Prin. A. E. Stearns, the chairman, then introduced Governor Draper as the chief speaker of the evening. In his address the Governor pointed out the acts of legislation during the past year which have been due to the Republican party, such as the River and Harbor Bill, the creation of a new Board of Education which shall have complete control of education in all its branches, and the act regulating the traffic of automobiles. Legislation of this sort, the Governor said, ought to be considered and discussed in this campaign rather than issues affecting the Federal government. He also spoke of the various institutions of the Commonwealth, and of the capability with which they have been conducted by the administration, closing his address with a plea for support in view of the good work which has been accomplished.

The next speaker was Stephen J. Gilman. His address brought out the idea that the Republican party is the party of today, the party of hope and promise, the party for the workingmen, and has passed acts of legislation for the benefit of the workingmen; that it always tried to redeem its promises as far as possible under existing conditions.

Attorney-General Malone, who followed Mr. Gilman, explained the duties belonging to his office and showed the necessity of having as an incumbent of that office a man of experience and wisdom. He said that the annual cry of the opposing party was that the large number of commissions is unnecessary, but that even under Democratic administrations the commissions were not done away with, which fact spoke well for the Republican policy. Both Mr. Malone and Mr. Gilman were emphatic in their praise of Governor Draper as a man and as an official.

The last speaker was the well-known Andover candidate, Samuel H. Boutwell. In his address which was brief owing to the lateness of the hour, he mentioned several of the objections which have been made in regard to his becoming a candidate for Representative, at the same time giving an able and effective answer to them, speaking of his service to the town and community during past years and asking the support of his fellow citizens at the coming election.

The rally was well attended and considerable enthusiasm was vinced. Governor Draper went directly to Lawrence at the conclusion of his speech, as he was scheduled to speak in that city and also in Haverhill. Besides the honored guests and speakers many prominent citizens of the town occupied seats on the platform.

Balloon Lands on Knowles Farm Last Saturday

Considerable excitement was caused in Scotland District Saturday afternoon by the balloon, "Boston," belonging to Charles J. Glidden. It left Lowell a little after three o'clock with J. Walter Flagg of Worcester as its occupant, while Mr. Glidden followed in his automobile. Shortly after four o'clock it descended in the field belonging to Mrs. Henrietta C. Knowles, in Scotland District. A large number of spectators witnessed the descent, while a group of Phillips boys from the Andover-Harvard game assisted in packing the balloon in the car in which it was taken back to Lowell.

Citizen's Rally

A Boston lawyer by the name of Long also spoke.

Obituary

W. CARLETON RICHARDSON

Willie Carleton Richardson, son of A. P. Richardson, died at his late home at 73 Park street Thursday evening, October 21st at 7:15 o'clock. He had been suffering over seven weeks with an illness which was caused by a fall resulting in Peritonitis. The little fellow was only ten years and 11 months old, but was a brave and patient sufferer, making a bold fight for life in a heroic way. One of his prevailing features during his sickness was his thoughtfulness and love of others.

He was a member for two years of the Christ church choir under the leadership of John Bachelder, a member of the Intermediate department of the South church Sunday school, and also a pupil in the Stowe school. Interment was in the West Parish Cemetery, he being the first one carried in under the new arch since its completion.

Services were conducted by Rev. Frank R. Shipman with singing by Mrs. Frederick G. Moore.

The floral contributions were from: the South church Sunday school and Sunday school teachers, school mates of the John Dove and Stowe schools, also school teachers, playmates of the neighborhood and from hosts of friends.

MRS. MARGARET MANNING

Mrs. Margaret Manning, who died at her home on Temple Place, High street, on October 17, was born in Wallace, N. S., June 3, 1855. She had been a member of the Baptist church since she was fourteen, she had lived in Andover for about fifteen years, uniting with the church in 1895. One sister, her mother, her husband and six children survive her. A remarkable sight was that of four generations of her family in church last Sunday.

Mrs. Manning will be greatly missed by the home circle, and by her many friends, who have happy memories of her affection, interest, and helpful spirit.

A good number of relatives and friends expressed appreciation of her life by attending the last services at her home, October 20. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the fragrance of her triumphant Christian life, much of which was spent in patient suffering. One of the sweet singers of the church sang hymns especially loved by Mrs. Manning, and Rev. W. E. Lombard spoke fittingly of her bright hope in Christ, and her joy in the home-coming.

FRANCES E. CHANDLER

The funeral of Miss Frances E. Chandler, who died Monday morning, October 25th, was held Wednesday afternoon at her late home. Many friends and acquaintances gathered to attend the services conducted by Rev. F. R. Shipman. Mrs. Frederick G. Moore sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Interment was in the West Parish Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Harry M. Eames, Roscoe K. Cole, L. F. Dearborn and Omar P. Chase.

Lecture Course at Phillips.

W. W. Ellsworth, secretary of the Century company, New York, whose lecture on Lincoln last year will be favorably remembered by all who heard it, will give a course of lectures at Phillips Academy this year on the following topics: Dec. 7, Arnold and Andre; Jan. 25, The Guns of Sumter; March 1, From Lexington to Yorktown. Mr. Ellsworth is widely known as a lecturer, and is considered the leading school and college speaker. The lectures will be free to the student body, and will be illustrated by stereopticon views.

THE T. A. HOLT COMPANY

Andover Conference

The Andover Association of Congregational churches met at the Tyngsboro Evangelical church, Tuesday afternoon and evening. The session began at 2.45 o'clock and a very interesting program was carried out. After the opening devotional exercises, the business session was begun. Records were read, a business committee with Rev. F. A. Wilson as chairman was appointed, changes were made in the constitution, and apportionments proposed for the different churches. For Andover they were as follows: South church, $1931; West, $200; Free, $1012; Ballardvale, $370; Seminary, $1304.

The open forum permitted discussion of several interesting subjects. Some of the more important were in regard to training for church responsibilities, Sunday reading for children, Sunday evening service, and the future Young People's society.

During the evening session the topic, Evangelistic Christianity, was discussed in its different phases by Rev. Ralph A. Barber, of Lawrence, Rev. Augustus H. Fuller of Ballard Vale, and Rev. Frank S. Hunnewell of Reading.

The convention adjourned shortly after 8 o'clock, special cars being in readiness for the delegates from Lawrence, Methuen and Andover.

Among the Andover people present were: Rev. F. A. Wilson, Charles B. Baldwin, Mrs. David Middleton, Mrs. Stephen Jackson, Mrs. Ann Anderson, Rev. F. R. Shipman, Jonathan Holt, George Ripley, Miss Sarah Poor, George S. Minor, Rev. and Mrs. Dean Walker, Prof. John Phelps Taylor, and Rev. Augustus H. Fuller.

Thomson-Pratt Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Rosamond Means Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Dennie Thomson, and Dr. Joseph Hersey Pratt of Boston, took place Saturday afternoon, October 23, at Christ church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederic Palmer, assisted by Rev. R. Le Blanc Lynch, the curate.

The bride, who was beautifully gowned in white Liberty satin, was unattended, but was preceded in the wedding procession by twelve choir boys.

Dr. Pratt, Yale '04, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. B. Pratt of North Middleboro. He was a graduate of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, '08, and is now a teacher in the Harvard Medical School and is a member of the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital. He is also a member of the newly formed Alumni Council of John Hopkins.

The ushers were Henry A. Christian of Boston, Dean of the Harvard Medical School; Dr. Campbell P. Howard of Montreal; Dr. Warfield Lonycope, of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Walter B. Steiner, of Hartford; Dr. Frank T. Fulton, of Providence; Mr. Edgar B. Davis, of New York; Mr. Philip Reed and Mr. Philip Thomson, a brother of the bride.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents on Abbot Street followed the ceremony. The many out-of-town guests were accommodated with a special train which came out from Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Pratt will reside at 313 Beacon Street, Boston.

Memorial Notice

Otis Chickering was born in a house now standing on Essex street, in Andover, Mass., Nov. 27th, 1846. His parents were Jacob and Sarah Jane (McMurphy) Chickering. The other children of this family who lived to middle age were Milton, Emily, and Samuel. And with them lived for many years two sisters of Mrs. Jacob Chickering. Until the years of the Civil War Jacob Chickering was a manufacturer of pianos in Andover, and had a salesroom on Washington street in Boston. Otis Chickering was given a liberal education, fitting for college in Andover, graduated at Dartmouth College in 1869 as A.B., and later receiving from the same institution the degree of Master of Arts. For a few years he was engaged in teaching in a private school in New York City. He afterwards went to Chicago and taught private pupils a few months. Later he proceeded to Nebraska, teaching and writing, and making his home with his mother's nephew who was editor and proprietor of the "Weekly Plattsmouth Herald." He returned east and made some efforts to study for the ministry, and was for a time licensed to preach and had temporary charges. Coming back to his home in Andover, he gave much time to reading and study. He was particularly interested in genealogy, and made copious notes in shorthand upon the descent of his father's family. He wrote articles for newspapers and reported for a daily paper. He wrote poetry, some of which was published. By degrees the hospitable and pleasant home on Essex street was broken up. Father, mother, brothers, and sister died and he was left alone in the world. Through bad management he lost the home and drifted among friends and relatives. For a great many years he had a chronic affection that rendered his life miserable. For the last five years he had lived with a cousin, the Rev. Jesse G. MacMurphy, in Derry, N. H., quite recently going to a hospital, and from thence to Andover where he died last Saturday morning, October 23, not far from the site of his old home. Buried from the church of which he was a communicant, his remains are laid in the family lot waiting for the Resurrection, and the judgment of the world to come.

Andover Mothers' Club

The Andover Mothers' Club will hold a meeting in the Kindergarten Rooms at 3.15 next Friday afternoon, November the fifth. Rev. C. C. Carpenter will give an informal talk on Labrador.

TO THE VOTERS OF ANDOVER

Seeing in the Circular issued by the Democratic candidate for Representative statements to the effect that I was a John N. Cole, or Machine man, while serving you in the Legislature, I beg to state that at no time either before or after my election was I approached by Mr. Cole or any of his associates for any purpose whatever, from a political standpoint.

Some time before the Caucus several of my friends requested me to become a candidate for Legislature, among whom were some of the most influential men in Andover.

After careful consideration I decided to accede to their request. I then called at the Townsman office, had an interview with Mr. Cole, with whom I had grown up in Andover, from boyhood, and informed him of my decision, and told him that as he was a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor, he could not afford to take any side in the local issue, as most of the Candidates were friends of his.

At no time previous to the Caucus did Mr. Cole assist me in any way to obtain the Nomination, but like all true Republicans endorsed the decision of the Caucus and worked for my election.

The Democratic Nominee makes it appear in his circular that a Professional Man is better qualified for the position of Representative than a Practical Business Man, to which I must certainly take exception.

Having served one year as Representative in the Legislature, I found that the Men that served the State best, were practical business men, their experience in business giving them all the necessary qualifications. I heartily endorse Mr. Boutwell's Candidature, he having served the Town of Andover for a considerable number of years, as we all know in an honorable and businesslike manner, and his past record for the Town proves his fitness for the position.

In closing I want to again say that I was no One Man's candidate and stood on my own responsibility from first to last.

ANDREW MCTERNEN

The Andover Mothers' Club will hold a regular meeting Friday, November fifth, at 3 o'clock, at the kindergarten rooms of the Samuel Jackson school. Mr. C. Carpenter will speak on Labrador, the country he has recently visited.

Punchard Notes

The new editors of the "Punchard Ensign" are as follows: Editor-in-Chief, Gertrude B. Randall; Assistant, Robert Morse; Verse, Eva Eaton; Alumni, James Anderson; Athletics, William Sellars; News, William J. Cronin; Jokes, Eva Howell, Business Manager, George Richardson.

The new teacher in English, Miss Elizabeth L. Neal, began her duties Thursday morning. Miss Neal comes from Manchester, N. H., where she has been teaching in the High School. She is a graduate of Smith college, and for seven or eight years has been engaged in teaching, first in Bristol, R. I., and later in Manchester.

All sons and daughters of Punchard, as well as all who have in any way been connected with the school regret the resignation of Miss Blanche S. Jacobs who has since her residence in Andover, been a faithful and beloved teacher. Miss Jacobs left town last night to take up her work in Pawtucket, R. I.

Merrimac has cancelled the game with Punchard and has disbanded its team.

All friends of Punchard should turn out on Saturday afternoon to see the game which our school team will play with Pinkerton on the Playstead. A good game is expected for both teams are in fine condition. Pinkerton's men will be in especially good trim for they have been training for their annual struggle with Sanborn Seminary which will take place November 6. Give Punchard your support by attending this last scheduled home game of the season. Tickets, 15 cents.

Last Friday afternoon on the Playstead Punchard defeated Woburn High by a score of 7 to 0. Woburn remembering her victory over Punchard earlier in the season, counted on scoring easily, and brought a special car full of followers, who found to their surprise that the home team clearly out-played their men. The whole game was exciting, the interest continuing to the very end when Punchard's threat to score a second time was spoiled by the call of time.

Association Football

The Lawrence and Andover eleven meet tomorrow afternoon on the grounds of the former, in a Lawrence and District league game. The teams are very evenly matched, and a good game should be the result.

The following team will endeavor to save the points for Andover: goal, Monro; backs, Downs, Jackson; half-backs, Stirling, W. Gordon, Tart; forwards, Falconer, Matthew, Meldrum, McGee, Gordon. Reserves, McKillop, Nicoll. Linesman, W. McDermitt. Referee, J. T. Hartley, Lawrence.

The Andover Cricket and Football club went to Manchester, N. H. last Saturday and played the Light Blues of that city in a Lawrence, Lowell and District League game. Andover took the game in hand at the start, and was playing ball all around their opponent, but the Blues could not stand it long, and started in to give their visitors a taste of the rough work for which they have become notorious. Even the spectators interfered with the play to such an extent that the Andover boys were obliged to include their unlawful conduct in the protest that they entered with the league against the play of their hosts, who, not only resorted to unsportsman-like tactics in the game, but more than once roughly handled the referee, who was also entered a protest. This is not the first difficulty the league has been asked to settle with the Light Blues since the season opened, and all lovers of good sport expect the league's action on this occasion to be such as will prevent a recurrence of this work in the future. The game ended in a defeat for Andover by a score of two goals to one. The line-up:

Bowling.

An interesting game of Duck Pins, was played in the Hillside House Alleys last Wednesday evening, between teams representing the Andover Press, and the Smith & Dove Overseer's club, the latter team winning three of the four points. Bradford and Kydd of the Overseer's club were the high rollers of the game, having scores of 276 and 273 respectively. Kydd was the only player to reach the century mark in a single string. Courts rolled best for the Press team, having a single of 97, and a total of 258.

The following are some of the individual strings rolled in practice on the Hillside House Alleys by members of the Overseer's club last Tuesday evening.

A Fishing Trip Spoiled

John Porter, Douglas Falconer, and William McDermitt, of Andover, and John Grass of Lawrence, went to Beverly last Sunday, and hired a Motor-boat, intending to spend the day fishing, but they had quite a different experience before they returned. When seven miles off shore they lost control of the motor, the bow-rope in some unknown manner became entangled in the propeller and they soon found themselves at the mercy of the wind and waves. A storm came up and the boat drifted seaward. Darkness set in and the men found themselves in any but comfortable circumstances. They were some 15 miles off Bakers Island, when the searchlight of the Revenue Cutter, Luck G. No. 2 reached them, and they were able to attract the attention of those on board the cutter, which bore down on them, picked them up and landed them safely at Beverly at 11:40 o'clock p. m. They reached their homes Monday forenoon with nothing more serious than the memory of their sad adventure.

JAPANESE COMMISSION IN LAWRENCE

In the interest of the textile industry of Japan, Party No. 2, of the Honorary Commercial Commissioners of Japan to the United States paid a visit to this city Monday where they were shown through the entire plants of the Pacific and Wood mills, the trip being conducted under the auspices of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. The party arrived on a special train early Monday morning and during the forenoon were shown through the Pacific mill plant.

At one o'clock the commission went to the Wood mill and viewed the escalators in operation, after which an adjournment was made to the private dining room of the Wood mill restaurant on Merrimack street, where a sumptuous spread took place.

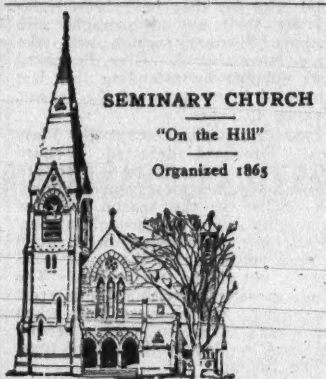

During the banquet, Paymaster F. A. Sherman of the Wood mill extended an address of welcome, which was received with applause. At the conclusion of the banquet, C. J. H. Woodbury, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers arose, and in behalf of the local mill men, presented a beautiful bronze medal which will be given to Baron Sichi Shibusawa, chairman of the commission, President Dai-Ichi, Tokyo, being unable to be present. The baron will in turn, send the medal to the Japanese Ambassador at Washington. It is inscribed, "To Baron Sichi Shibusawa; In Commemoration of the visit of the Honorary Commercial Commissioners of Japan, October 25, 1909."

The Methuen Teachers' Club recently elected the following officers: President, Caleb A. Page; secretary, Miss Anna G. Tinkham; executive committee, the principal of the larger school buildings with two members, Miss Dodge and Miss Smiley from the smaller schools.

SOME ANDOVER INTERESTS

AS SEEN BY "THE SPECTATOR."

The new domestic in a certain Andover home where the Spectator is a frequent visitor says she has no objection to going out to take the air, but she kicks abominably if she is asked to take the hair out while she goes out.

"Ah, good morning, Mr.—!" exclaimed an affable Andover Bore, sitting down by the Spectator's elbow and elevating his feet to the slide on the Spectator's desk; "glad to see you, fine day." "Yes," replied the Spectator sadly, "a fine day to be out, sir." "Just so," replied the affable Andover Bore, the hint falling from his thick hide like a child's arrow from a crocodile's skin; "just so; should think you'd die sitting around the Townsman office this fine autumn weather; but then you have lots of friends dropping in now and then, no doubt." "No, no; my friends are all attending to their own affairs." "Are they? Well that's too bad." "Yes, but then I wouldn't like to ask any Andoverite to stay in this close office longer than five minutes, especially on such a splendid day as this, outside." "Oh! you are too thoughtful of the comfort of others. But I shant allow you to punish yourself. I'll stay with you—got nothing to do—just as lief put in a couple of hours here as anywhere in Andover." "All right!" said the Spectator, with a sad smile, rising and putting on his hat and coat; "all right. If anybody calls, say I shall be back before the Townsman's forms are ready for the press Friday. Good day. Hope you'll enjoy yourself."

A prominent Andover clergyman calls the face "the playground of the soul." Then the cheek of the book-agent who came into the Townsman office a few days ago must be a prairie.

An Andoverite who takes a deep interest in foreign mission work gives the Spectator to understand that 150,000 gallons of liquor are sent to Africa to every missionary. Well, well! the Spectator would not have believed it! The few missionaries he has seen did not look as though they were equal to any such thing; indeed, they did not.

A Main street gentleman suggests to the Spectator the providing for a series of "Free Town Lectures." Whatever may be an Andoverite's opinion as to the advisability of the "expansion" of town enterprise into the lecture field, there cannot be two opinions, among those Andoverites competent to judge, as to the educational value of such lectures. Certain as it is, that a body of citizens, as well as an individual, "cannot live by bread alone." Therefore, if organized town government is to concern itself with the needs and wants of the governed, in the opinion of the Spectator, it cannot stop with the meeting of the mere material needs, but must go beyond that, as far as expediency, discretion and the tax limit will allow. The general scheme of the proposed "Free Town Lectures" would be a kind of school extension, since the calibre of most of the lectures would be such as to make the intelligible and helpful, particularly to that class of our inhabitants which has not had the advantages of secondary education. While the Main street gentleman in outlining his proposition makes no suggestions as to the topics of the lectures, the Spectator is assured that they would be of the sort that would be certain to afford combined entertainment and profit to all Andoverites who attended them. The Spectator for one would like to see something along this line become a fixed feature of Andover's educational system.

The Spectator recently uttered a word or two in relation to the subject of tuberculosis. A leading Andover physician who was very much impressed with what the Spectator said very kindly formulated the following brief rules for the avoidance of tuberculosis for publication in the Townsman: (1) A generous dietary of nitrogenous food. (2) Free ventilation of dwelling and sleeping-rooms by open windows with wire-gauze blind. (3) Adequate house heating in winter. (4) Boil all milk or cream previous to use. (5) Try and obtain eight hours' sleep every night; if not sound sleep, contract the hours to seven and rest in the day. (6) If debilitated with weak digestion, take rest in the recumbent position a quarter of an hour before and after meals. (7) Wear the loosest clothing possible, especially round the waist and lower ribs, to afford absolute freedom in respiration. (8) Take systematic daily exercise in the open air on foot. (9) If means and station in life admit of a long holiday from time to time, live during fine weather in a tent in the open air, or in a summer house for most of the day; and, if unemployed, pursue a hobby to occupy the mind.

A certain Andoverite of the Spectator's acquaintance is the most thoughtful man he knows. This Andoverite has been on a low diet for two or three weeks. He eats nothing more solid than beef tea, and very little of that; but he goes about the house half the day with a tooth-pick in his mouth. It gives him the appearance of having just arisen from a hearty meal, and causes everybody to almost forget his illness. Few men are so thoughtful of the comfort of others as this particular Andoverite.

A Lawrence hat dealer tells the Spectator that the size of a man's head is always increased by excitement. The Spectator has noticed this too. It generally occurs, however, the morning after the excitement.

A certain woman here in Andover thought she had struck the concentrated essence of spitefulness when she told her neighbor, "If you didn't wear a wig I'd pull your hair for you; you nasty thing."

In looking over the lesser portion of one's household effects, one is frequently surprised in finding a good many objects that do not seem to be of any particular use—that is, they are by no means valueless, as property, but they do not seem to have any definite place in the household economy. Books, as well as furniture, come within this category; but more frequently one finds photographs, lithographs, engravings, generally foreign in subject, closely connected with art, and art history, in its various subdivisions of architecture, pictures, sculpture, etc., often considerable numbers of such things are relegated to a portfolio, or closet, seldom referred to or used for any purpose. A prominent Andover gentleman comes forward with the suggestion, namely, that these articles be placed in the public schools of Andover for mural decorations while the smallest pictures be arranged and placed in portfolios to be placed in the schools. In this way he believes the surplus of instructive and interesting pictures may be brought into constant use, and as a factor in the education of the young of Andover be invaluable.

An Andoverite of the Spectator's acquaintance is known as "old Sanitary" because he does his best to keep the streets of Andover clean. In his daily walk he carries a cane and from force of habit the stick is kept constantly busy knocking and pushing into inconspicuous places scraps of paper, orange peels, banana skins, cigar stumps and any other unsightly substance he can see.

$3.75 Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker and a complete assortment of MOTHER'S CEREALS - all for $2.84

The Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker actually cooks without fuel. It solves the servant problem, the fuel problem and the delayed dinner problem. It saves 80% of your present coal or gas bills, and 90% of your present kitchen worries. When you own a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, you simply place your oatmeal (or anything else that you want to prepare) on the stove, bring it to a boiling point, remove, place in Fireless Cooker, put the pad in position, tug the draw-string, and go to bed. While you're sleeping, the food will keep cooking itself. Nothing can boil over or burn or spoil. During the day you can start soup or joints or vegetables, place them in the Cooker, visit your neighbor, go to the matinee, or shop, without any thought of a hot, stuffy kitchen range.

Now, there is only one way that you can get a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, unless you want to go to a store and pay $3.75 for it, and that is by being a user of Mother's Cereals, the best cereals, prepared in the largest mills, and sold everywhere by the best dealers in every town. In every package we place a coupon, and when you have 125 coupons we'll send you the $3.75 Fireless Cooker for nothing. If you want a Fireless Cooker in a hurry, you can either buy ten packages of MOTHER'S OATS or any other Mother's Cereals, and get the Cooker immediately by paying $1.15 in cash or upon the following basis:

50 coupons and $.75 cash
35 coupons and .90 cash
25 coupons and 1.00 cash
15 coupons and 1.10 cash
10 coupons and 1.15 cash

But the best way of all is to go to your grocer and ask him to supply you with which contains a complete assortment of different delicious cereals for every palate and for every meal. Not only is it an advantage to buy your staple cereals in sufficient quantity at attractive prices (just as it's cheaper to buy flour by the barrel or butter by the crock) but in every Mother's Kit there is in addition to the saving of quite a considerable sum of money, a special Fireless Cooker Certificate, equal to eighteen coupons, which, when added to the coupons from the packages in the kit, enables you to secure a Cooker by merely adding 89 cents. A Mother's Kit consists of eighteen assorted packages of Mothers Cereals, packed in sanitary sealed packages, in which they are guaranteed to keep in perfect condition indefinitely.

A Mother's Kit

8 packages of Mother's Oats, standard size
2 packages of Mother's Yellow Corn Meal
1 package of Mother's White Corn Meal
1 package of Mother's Wheat Hearts
1 package of Mother's Corn Flakes (Toasted)
1 package of Mother's Old-Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal
2 packages of Mother's Granulated Hominy
2 packages of Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy

This Kit can be purchased at your grocer's by simply paying $1.95 (a little more at distant points).

The grocer himself will either redeem your coupons and deliver the $3.75 Fireless Cooker, or, if you so desire, send the coupons and 89c directly to us and we will ship the cooker to you, express collect.

Under the direction of the selectmen operations have been started grading and graveling Buxford street known as "The New Road," leading from East Buxford to Fuller's Crossing, formerly known as Swan's Corner. About 2,200 feet will be improved. The town voted $500 at the last annual March meeting for the purpose named and the state highway commission will apportion a similar sum, under the "Small Town's Act," and private parties will contribute $250.

LAWRENCE

The 16th annual dance and whist party of Court Lafayette, No. 94, F. of A., was held with great success Wednesday evening in Franco-American hall.

Attorney Michael A. Sullivan of this city has been appointed a district deputy of the Knights of Columbus.
His district will be No. 22, which includes the following councils: Lawrence, 67; Lowell, 72; Woburn, 77;
Haverhill, 202; and Winchester, 210.

A smoketalk and entertainment were enjoyed by the members of the English Social club and their friends Saturday night at the clubhouse at the corner of Hampshire and Centre streets, with John Hewson as chairman of the evening.

Inspector Thompson of the police department has been delegated by the mayor to attend all auction sales of horses hereafter as an expert on horseflesh to prevent the disposition of any equine which he deems unfit for use.

A benefit concert for Miss E. M.
Ulmar, who is blind, was held at the First M. E. church, Monday night, and the affair was largely attended.
A fine entertainment was provided, the program including a number of well known entertainers.

A head-on collision between a passenger car and a coal car occurred on the Salem line just this side of Farnham's turnout at 12.15 o'clock Monday afternoon. The front vestibule of the passenger car was smashed in, and a few passengers were slightly injured by flying glass.

A delightful social gathering was held Wednesday evening at engine 9's house on Bailey street, where the members of the house and their friends enjoyed a splendid clambake which was followed by a whist party and a general good time.

The mill and property of the Jersey Cloth Company, formerly the Knitting Fabrics Company, on Broadway, at the corner of Gleason street, Methuen, was sold at auction Tuesday to Frank G. Murch of the Selden Worsted Company, this city.
The price paid was $14,700.

The regular meeting of the James A. Garfield circle, No. 15, Ladies of the G. A. R., was held in Red Men's hall last evening. The meeting was given up to the discussion of their coming Halloween party which takes place on Saturday afternoon and evening in Russell hall.

Hibernian hall was the scene of a pleasurable affair Monday night when the second annual ball under the auspices of the Ladies' auxiliary, Division 1, A. O. H., was held.
There was a good attendance and a fine order of dances was carried out.
Music was furnished by the Columbian orchestra.

On Friday morning the Hassam Paving Company started to tear up and relay the old blocks on Broadway from Essex street to Methuen, as empowered by the mayor. Contractor Hassam said that Essex street is the finest paved street he ever laid and one of the finest in New England.

Miss Frances Sullivan, '09, a student at Lowell Normal school, met with a most painful accident, on the trip to Lowell, Wednesday morning. Miss Sullivan was leaving the train at Lowell Junction, when her hand became caught in the door jamb and three of her fingers were badly crushed.

Instructions were given by the mayor to Supt. Needham Saturday to repair Andover street westerly from South Broadway. That part of the thoroughfare is in a dangerous condition, the residents having drawn up a petition to be presented to the county commissioners asking that something be done.

With impressive ceremony and the accompaniment of stirring music the annual inspection of Mrs. John E. Gilman tent, Daughters of Veterans was held before a large gathering of local and visiting members in Needham hall last evening. The work was done by Deputy Inspector Miss Nina Littlefield of Cambridge, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Gooding of Somerville.

As announced, the Unitarian church held its annual harvest service Sunday morning and gifts of fruits, vegetables, delicacies of all kinds given by members of church and Sunday school were banked about the pulpit and rostrum until the furniture was hidden from view. Everybody had given something, even to the smallest child. After the service the gifts were divided between the hospital and the Children's Home.

The fourth anniversary of the Imperial Social club will be observed with a dance and entertainment in Saunders hall on the evening of November 5. The members of the club have established a reputation for being princes at entertaining and a good time is assured all who attend.
The committee in charge consists of President William Hale, chairman;
Dennis Calahan, William Crawford,
William Lyons and Harry Whittaker.

After an agreement on the part of counsel in the suit of D. W. Pingree Company vs. George P. Pillsbury of Ballardvale, a verdict of $2189.18 in behalf of the plaintiff was returned by the jurors upon instruction from Judge King in superior civil court Friday morning, at the opening of court.
The suit was brought by the D. W.
Pingree Company, to recover on two promissory notes of $1000 each and one note of $250 alleged to have been unpaid by Pillsbury. The defendant claimed that the equivalent of the notes had been paid in transactions with a running account said to have existed between the plaintiff and defendant.

Lucius McManus, the 14-year-old nephew of John A. McManus, the well-known letter carrier, was almost instantly killed early Tuesday evening as the result of falling under the passenger train which left the South Lawrence depot at 5.20 o'clock. The lad who is in his second year in high school, was coming through the depot with some companions on way home and as the train was moving out jumped on to one of the lower steps intending to drop off again, which he did before the train had gone but a few yards, but tripped and fell, rolling immediately under the train, the wheels passing over and almost severing his left arm and inflicting terrible injuries upon the left side of the unfortunate boy's body.

LAWRENCE ANTI-TUBERCU- LOSIS LEAGUE

The annual meeting of the Lawrence Anti-Tuberculosis league was held in the Board of Trade rooms Wednesday night. Progressive reports were received from the different departments of the work carried on by the league, and it was made plainly evident that the organization has already secured a firm grasp of the situation in this city.

An interesting point was noted in the fact that out of the 65 cases which have come under the care of the organization, 20 patients in the incipient stage of the disease have been cured of the plague in the past year. The work of the day camp on the General hospital grounds has been especially satisfactory, the patients treated there being reported as constantly gaining in weight.

In addition to the reports of the nominating committee, a very interesting account was given of the Tuberculosis Exhibit. The following is a part of the report:

FINANCIAL REPORT.

Rent of exhibit and wage of	director	$ 71.50

the evening was as follows: Wednesday 321, Thursday 244, Friday 525, ably came without being checked.

ESSEX COUNTY

City Solicitor Robert E. Burke of Newburyport has announced his candidacy for the mayoralty.

The new house of the Lynn club was opened for the house-warming and fair Wednesday.

Nine autoists paid fines of $10 each in Newburyport court for over-speeding. They were caught in the Newbury trap.

John B. Lynch, a well known New-buryport oil dealer, fired on two maraders at his Dove street home and put them to flight.

A haul of diamonds, amethysts, pearls, lockets, etc., valued at $1000 was made at the home of J. Wallace Allen, Haverhill last week.

Street railways in Haverhill paid a tax of $6998.68, of which the B.
& N. paid the sum of $5328.60, an increase of $667.68 over last year.

Occupants of automobile numbered 5461 prevented Frank W. Grant of Lynn from hurling himself into the waters of the Saugus river early Saturday morning.

There is some talk in Lynn of making the outdoor tuberculosis camp in the Swampscott woods a permanent thing, and to run it both winter and summer.

The state highway commissioners are finding out that the cost of repairs to the Parker river bridge in Newburyport will be several thousand dollars more than at first figured, as the bridge is in bad shape.

The body of Everett W. Pecker, the Lynn shoe manufacturer, who was killed in Maryland in an auto accident, reached his late home at Swampscott Saturday evening.

Haverhill's municipal council reports a saving of $6000 in the expenses of the city for the first nine months of this year over the same period last year under the old system.

The body of a child was found floating in the Merrimack river recently, at Haverhill. It is thought to be a case of child murder, and the police are investigating. Mary Orlofsky, 23 years of age is held.

The Lynn Clothiers' and Tailors' Association is determined to break up suit clubs and has already sought the co-operation of Manager Fish of the General Electric Company.

Recently a Lynn constable who went to seize some goods on a writ was attacked by a woman of the house who threw various articles at him, finally winding up with hitting him with her pet cat in the region of the solar plexus. He got the goods, however.

A storm of protest arose at the hearing in Salisbury Town hall over the petition for the placing of a loop at the square to improve the service of the Amesbury & Haverhill road.
The main cause of the protest was the increasing by the road of the fare to Smithtown to 10 cents.

After having persisted in blasting without permission, being enjoined by the superior court and its manager fined $100 for contempt of court for disobeying that injunction, the Massachusetts Broken Stone Company of Salem has filed a formal petition for permission to resume.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M.
E. church announce that the annual Christmas sale and supper will take place the first week in December.

The J. H. D. Smiths return Saturday to Boston, after spending the mer Centre resident, is passing a few weeks at the home of his brother, Selectman Peter Holt.

The M. E. Sunday school will observe "Rally Day" next Sunday. All the officers, teachers and pupils are requested to be present.

Arrangements have been made by the Ladies' Auxiliary for three entertainments to be given in the North Andover club house on November 19,
December 3 and December 17.

A rehearsal was held in the M. E. vestry, Monday evening, for "The Spinster's Club," to be presented in Phenomenal Success of the Spectacular "Three Twins" at the Boston Theatre.

Sparkling with witty lines and full of scenic and costume innovations, "Three Twins" is enjoying the limit of prosperity at the Boston theatre. The humor of the situation of the three men who resemble each other is capably worked out under the leadership of Clifton Crawford, whose impersonation of the rather inconsequential son of a rich father is one of the best comic characterizations that has been given to the stage in recent years. Mr. Crawford makes the role move with plenty of fun and monologue. Miss Leon has a rich soprano voice, which is heard to the best effect in her duet with Mr. Crawford in the first act and in "Cuddle Me," which today is the popular song of Boston. Joseph Allen, as the irascible old general, is to the life, and his eccentric characterization furnishes a lot of fun. There are summer girls and bathing girls and trained nurses and maids and Yama Yama girls dancing and prancing in flashing costumes that would put tch rainbow to shame. In fact, the show from beginning to end is crowded with a maze of clever entertainment, such as seldom finds its way into the present day musical comedy. The success of the piece at the Boston theatre is quite beyond the most sanguine expectations of the most ardent admirer of the happy combination, as at every performance, the great big Boston theatre is filled to its seating capacity with enthusiastic audiences. The regular matinees are given on Wednesday and Saturday. In the evening the curtain is raised promptly at eight o'clock and at the afternoon performances at two o'clock.

FROM GOLF LINKS TO OFFICE

THERE'S nothing like getting out of doors on these bracing, sunshiny afternoons in early fall.

Sometimes it is hard to get away from the office, particularly if you have to leave some things "hanging fire."

With the TELEPHONE to help you, it's all the same whether you're going to play golf or tennis, go out in the machine, or see the game.

A word over the wire saves an hour's delay in leaving the office, and a call in the latter part of the afternoon will clean up the things you couldn't do before you left.

Remember that the telephone at the Country Club will serve you for either Local or Long Distance calls.
